Act 1: Discovery of a transitory black hole

A scientist in Earth is the first one to detect that on the Oort cloud has been disrupted in a big way. It seems that a primordial tiny-black hole travelling to 0.1% of the speed of light had just crossed the full Oort Cloud and it's going to take 31 years to cross the solar system.

The scientist declares his finding in the solar system parliament of united planets to the horror of all the assistants.

The findings are that the inner planets (Venus, Earth, Mars) are going to be displaced of their orbit slingshot to the deep space while, Jupiter and Saturn will remain in orbit alongside their human populated moons.

The negotiations to mass emigrations to the moons of Jupiter and Saturn start to take place. While the initial reception seems to unite the whole solar system in a unified response, things start to break apart as the tensions between allocating the huge populations of Earth, Venus and Mars in the small moons become an unacceptable action for the population of that moons.

2 alliances are formed:

* The Inner Alliance formed by Earth, Mars, Venus

* The Outer Alliance formed by the people living in the moons and space-stations of Jupiter and Saturn

In the Outer Alliance, Aldaya Brior, is one of the leaders who tries to find a peaceful way for the people of the inner solar system planets to migrate in the moons and in huge space station around them. Meanwhile, Joryson Kain, is a radical member of the Jupiter and Saturn alliance who wants to forbid that massive migration of the people of the inner planets come to their home to suck their resources. Joryson solution is to that the inner planets migrate to the moons of Neptune and Uranus, a plan that would force the inner planets to do big sacrifices.

In the Inner Alliance, Caleb Baker, is an important member of its council who is also trying is best to find a peaceful solution with the outer planets. He has multiple meetings with Aldaya in order to find ways to coexist together. Meanwhile, Alice Williams, is a general of the Inner Alliance that like, Joryson Kain, understands the negotiations are bound to fail, and she starts to rally his people for an incoming conflict when they fail.

The first act is developed during a 5 year spawn, and it's about the hard negotiations and the struggle of the different factions working towards different goal. One goal being a peaceful solution and the other a full total war between the Inner and Outer Alliances.

This act concludes with Alice managing to get the help of a kamizake volunteer, Timothy Flores, that is responsible of part of the organization of an important meeting between the 2 alliances to finally reach a common ground to save the Inner Alliance. Timothy manages to place a bomb in the center of the huge conference room. That terrorist attack kills half of the members present in it, breaking any chance of a peaceful agreement and starting the war.

Act 2: Full War

Joryson Kain, lead the forces of the Outer Alliance. On the other side, Alice Williams, is leading the forces of the Inner Alliance.

Gruesome spaceship battle take place in multiple outposts in the space between the inner and the outer planets of the solar system.

The inner alliance are gaining terrain progressively over the spawn of 5 years. They went so far to conquest in an epic battle the moon Calisto, where the forces lead by Alice Williams battled against the army lead by Joryson Kain. An epic battle between fighter spaceships takes place where the partner of Joryson Kain, a brave and an exceptional talented pilot woman named Kririan Yriu, loses her life after trying to make a final stand to avoid Callisto to be taken by the inner solar system planet alliance.

After such a lose, Joryson Kain, desolated and being aware that the Outer Alliance is losing the war, decides to accept the help of a more radical faction within the alliance of the Outer Alliance. The plan of that radical faction lead by Iory Yogame, a fanatic leader with a cult following in the harshest cold hell moon of Saturn, Enceladus, was the total annihilation of the planets of the inner solar system. At that point Joryson is desperate and accepts the plan, but Joryson accepts to destroy planet Mars alongside its 1 billion of human population.

Aldaya Brior finds out about the terrible plan and decides to contact Caleb Baker in secret. They couldn't accept Joryson massive genocide. They tried their best finding people within Joryson's organization that could be against that insane genocidal plan. When they think they are going to find someone to stop that, they are betrayed and they are meet instead Joryson and Iory. Both Aldaya Brior and Caleb Baker are killed by releasing them in the volcanic moon of Jupiter, IO, with a spaceship that will resist during several hours the volcanics pressures of that moon until they are finally burn alive.

Alice Williams finds out at the last moment about the plan. She stands in the way of a huge meteorite which as been accelerated to enough speed to have enough kinetic energy to convert Mars into a volcanic hell. Her effort is futile and the meteorite destroy the whole space battle ship she was commanding.

Act 3: The black hole

After the mass genocide of Mars, the two alliances pact a truce.

For a decade there are only small conflicts that the politicians manage to not scale to a bigger conflict. They know what could happen if they scale again. They never want that genocide to happen.

The plan for the colonization of the moons of Neptune and Uranus gets approved. That places never considered for colonization due the excessive distance from the sun now are the only options for the billions of people still alive in the inner planets of the solar system.

The Inner Alliance decides to hid the information that the plan about Neptune and Uranus would only save as much as 10% of human population from the inner planets of the solar system.

They had been able to hold that critical piece of information from the general during 15 years, time enough to build the first settlement in all the moons of Neptune and Uranus that had started with some basic terraformation process to make the living conditions barely acceptable, 80% of the spaceships that will carry all the population.

Just a year before the first passenger ships with the first group of migrants, Zoe Torres a cult fanatic had created a followers in the belief that humans should not spread through the galaxy manages to get his hands in that critical piece of information. She organizes a full campaign to expose the corrupt government about the real price the people from the Inner Allience is going to have to pay in order to survive. She manages to make grow her fanatic cult with hundreds of new followers everyday.

In the police force, Zion Campbell is suspecting that the cult that Zoe is planning to do something more than demoralize the general population. He suspects they want to perform a big terrorist attempt, but he is unsure of what is going to be.

In order to investigate what Zoe Torres could be planning, Zion infiltrates in the cult. He manages to prosper within the rank by performing criminal bomb attacks against buildings of the government. Luckily Zion always manages to advise in time so there are no victims in the bomb. Zoe starts to suspect of him to the point that he kidnaps one of the chief police officers, Bennett Lee. The mentor of Zion, a father figure to him. Zoe tests the loyalty of Zion, by forcing him to kill that man. Zion, unable to avoid the dramatic event, with his heart breaking in silence, is forced to kill him, after Bennett sigh tells Zion he is ready to die for the greater good.

Zion keeps progressing in the hierarchy of the cult, but always with the suspicion of Zoe over him. A few days before the launch of the first passenger spacecraft that would carry, Zoe sets up a secret meeting. When they reach the meeting point all the communication devices get confiscated. It is clear that whatever is the goal they don't want it to be filtered. Zoe starts with a grandiose discourse of the disease that mankind had become and that the universe should be purified of that disease. She explains how at that moment there are 5 big vans outside, that they are going to drive in a few minutes to 5 launching pads where there are stationed the huge spaceships that are going to carry the human population to the promised moons of Neptune and Uranus. In each van there is a nuclear device that is going to blow the moment they reached the programmed coordinates. The plan is to blow all the passenger spaceships to stop the population from saving. For Zoe humanity should end with the planet Earth.

Zion is unarmed, when he enters the van. They have received order not to be arm until they are about to enter to the area. Zion needs to think fast. In the van there are 10 other people, he cannot fight just barehanded with them. He manages to fart so bad that he forces a pit stop in gas station in the middle of the Arizona dessert in order to go to the bathroom. He is lucky, the owner of the gas station manages to have a semi-automatic pistol Beretta M9. Zion doesn't have time to convince the gas station owner and knock him out. Luckily Zion remains undetected. He goes to the back of the van and manages to kill the 7 people there. Then he goes for the two who were at the driving seats, in an intense shooting fight he manages to kill them both but he suffers a fatal injury. He has only seconds of life before he fades away. He goes to the nuclear bomb, he knows that he won't be able to trigger the full hydrogen nuclear fusion explosion, but he knows that with a normal fission explosion it should enough for the satellite to detect the incident an investigate it. He point the trigger to the fission detonator and pulls the trigger.

The fission explosion was enough to be detected by the satellites. The government manages to stop 2 of the vans, unfortunately 2 other vans reach their goal successfully. Even if Zoe hasn't destroyed all the passengers spaceships people are aware that they won't be able to save even the promised 10% of the population.

A year of chaos anarchy proceeded the event. The martial law was declared to put order. Hundreds of thousands of people died during the process. After all that chaos the new estimation only promised that a 2% of the population would be saved on time. The rest would freeze to dead in a wondering Earth.

THE END
